

Your Demise, These Lights

Sitting on the six, take the long ride home, just me, myself and I (whoa)
Noise in my ears, gutless self pity swarms this journey here tonight.
Goodbyes and hellos (whoa), but I still sit on my own.

Over-thinking thoughts of the day,
Writing stories for the souls that I barely know,
Common ground are the seats we share -
Day in, day out, take care.

All these lights illuminate the streets
And this green light lightens up my mind
(Lightens up my mind)
I'll stand forever just to be kind

Maybe I make these people scream and shout, like they do every night,
But I still share these late night sights, these late night sights
Maybe losing their love make these people talk to no-one...
Goodbyes and hellos, but I still sit on my own.

Over-thinking thoughts of the day,
Writing stories for the souls that I barely know,
Common ground are the seats we share -
Day in, day out, take care.

All these lights illuminate the streets
And this green light lightens up my mind
(Lightens up my mind)
I'll stand forever just to be kind
[x4]