Bad Religion, New Dark Ages

Now can you hear the call in our rambling land? Susurrations that can expand Beyond all hope of light And plunge us into unrelenting night A pall, a truth and reason It feels like hunting season So avoid those lines of sight And we'll set this right Welcome to the new dark ages Yeah, I hope you're living right These are the new dark ages And the world might end tonight Now come ye children, one and all Let's heed Ezekiel's call And bide until the word is good and ripe And get plucked clean out of sight The world will be erased Our kin will be immaculate, ejaculate in space Before the King of king's love He'll snatch us from above Brothers, help me sing it

Welcome to the new dark ages Yeah, I hope you're living right These are the new dark ages And the world might end tonight So how do you sleep? There's nothing to keep This is deep Because we're animals With golden rules Who, who can't be moved By rational views, yeah Welcome to the new dark ages I hope you're living right Welcome to the new dark ages Say it again, yeah Oh, these are the new dark ages I hope you're living right Welcome to the new dark ages And the world might end tonight
