Bad Religion, Part IV (The Index Fossil)

We're widespread and well fed

The earth's rotatin' fate is in our head, oh yeah

We're dominant and prominent

And our deity's omnipotent, oh yeah

And immortality's in our mastermind

And we destroy everything that we find

And tomorrow when the human clock stops and the world stops tickin'

We'll be an index fossil buried in our own debris

We're listless, promiscuous

And life to us is either hit or miss, oh yeah

We're savoir faire and debonair

And things we do are done with pride and care, oh yeah

And immortality's in our mastermind

And we destroy everything that we find

And tomorrow when the human clock stops and the world stops tickin'

We'll be an index fossil buried in our own debris

See immortality's in our mastermind

And we destroy everything that we find

And tomorrow when the human clock stops and the world stops tickin'

We'll be an index fossil buried in our own debris

In our own debris