Bad Religion, The Dodo

Bad Religion Miscellaneous The Dodo I see a white haired man, he's got a suit on hand He's telling people how they're supposed to live Nobody's listening to the politician No matter what sage advice he has to give

He's got a clumsy, outdated m.o. And he's come to a fork in the road And there is only one direction to go

Among the commuters, dwarfed by the skyscrapers I watch the countless millions fighting for space See hateful, petty acts, disjointed images, And can't believe that i'm one of the same race

We're all just struggling to cope And we come to a fork in the road As we watch our foundations erode There's only one direction to go

It's the way of the dodo Such a noble destiny It's the waltz of desperation Passed along to you and me The way of the dodo (it's the gray stuff in your head) (it's the pulse of the living and the voices of the dead)
