

Donovan, Your Broken Heart

You may ask a million wise men
You may search a thousand books
You may seek friend's consolation
And their sympathetic looks

They can't tell you what to do
They ain't got no words for you
Only you know what to do with your broken heart...
Only you know what to do with your broken heart.

All around you life has fallen
You watch the pieces scatter fast
Your lover heeds another calling
Now you're living in the past...

They can't tell you what to do
They ain't got no words for you
Only you know what to do with your broken heart.

Secret cowboy in the canyon
Four wheel driving stallion
Country music in his fingers
Another girl within his heart

He can't tell you what to do
He ain't got no words for you
Only you know what to do with your broken heart...
Only you know what to do with your broken heart...
Only you know what to do with your broken heart.
