

Hoobastank, Waiting

I don't care what you think or say,
It doesn't matter what you think it takes I'm going to do what I came here to do
So you better move.

Cause I'm prepared to lose it all
I'm not afraid of how far I might fall
As long as I've done everything I could.

Cause I've waited so long for my time to come
And I've waited so long to open the door.

And now it's finally opened up
And all this time I thought it was stuck shut
Can't wait around to see when it will close
I don't want to know

I know that I've gotta make a move
I didn't come this far to not go through
I know exactly what I have to do.

Cause I've waited so long for my time to come
And I've waited so long to open the door
And I know in the end I may never be here again
So I'm not going to wait anymore.
No!

One shot is all I've got,
one shot is all I've got
So I'll hope that my aim is straight and true.

Cause I've waited so long for my time to come
And I've waited so long to open the door,
And I know in the end I may never be here again,
So I'm not going to wait anymore,
No I'm not going wait anymore

One shot is all I've got, one shot is all I've got.