

Pola Pospieszalska, Why is this Happening (WITH)

Why is this Happening
Why we fallen apart
We used to be so close together
And now you're breaking my heart

You're cynical
You're clinical
You think it's all about you
You're desperate
But I'll tell you what need another point of view

You keep turning away
And say you don't love me
You keep shine me out
And closing the dark
You push me away
Telling me to go
You keep locking me out
But I want let you do that any more

Once we were so close
Once you set my heart burn
You took me and made me safe
But everything has changed

You manipulate
You stipulate
You're not hearing what I'm saying
You made the mess of everything
You not gonna get your way
No!

You keep turning away
And say you don't love me
You keep shine me out
And closing the dark
You push me away
Telling me to go
You keep locking me out
But I want let you do that any more

We need to sort it out
Before it gets too late
We need to bridge this gap
Before it changes to hate
We need to find the way for us to work it out
We need to find the way, is there any go?

You keep turning away
And say you don't love me
You keep shine me out
And closing the dark
You push me away
Telling me to go
