

Subb, It's Alright

Where's your heart?

What about the time you were always by my side

What about the system who gives you no try

What about the picture who's fading away

I'm not only here to say

That the meaning of this has no meaning at all

I'm only trying to put you against the wall

Decision has been made and I guess you've come late

I'm trying not to lose my faith

It's alright, don't even try to compromise

It's alright, don't even try to fit me in

It's alright, don't even try to win the fight

It's alright, I will never win on your side.