Subb, West Side

Take a trip down to the West side Just follow your heart and leave Take a trip down to the West side Just follow your dream and leave It's when everyone around you is trying to cheer you up While you are feeling down It's when everything around you reminds you that It's gonna be hard to go through She'll never know how much it counts Now you are gone and she's on her own again She'll never know how much it counts Now you are gone, stealing her own plan Going for the master plan It's when you know that the race is almost over And you'll never have another chance Just take all your gear and leave a little note 'Cuz "I'm leaving for L.A.... yeah"
